The New York dandy has taken to snuff, which he pinches from ancient snuff-boxes ornamented either with diamonds or ancestral portraits.

THE GAZETTE highly appreciates the kindly feelings expressed by those members of the Methodist conference who have honored the paper with personal visits.

The youngest stockholder of any bank in America is Miss Holle Kours of North Platte, Neb. She was born last week, and when she was forty-eight hours old a citizen gave her a share of stock in the First National Bank of Tyler in acknowledgement of the fact that she was named after his dead wife.

The leading newspaper man in Japan is Mr. Murayama. Nine years ago he started Asahi Shimbun (which being interpreted, is Rising Sun News) at Osaka.
It now has a circulation of $5,000, and an agent of the editor and proprietor is in this country to buy improved presses for the Asahi Shimbun. It is partly illustrated, and sells for four-fifths of a cent.

THE STOCK YARDS.

The big Union Stock Yards of Fort Worth are fairly under way. The board of directors is composed of the following gentlemen: Governor John C. Brown of the Texas and Pacific, Colonel Morgan Jones of the Fort Worth and Denver, R.
C. Kerens of St. Louis, first vice-president of the St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas; L. D. Voak, general live stock agent of the Missouri Pacific; J. J. Mil-lane, commercial agent of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe; J. P. Smith, J. W.
Burgess, R. E. Maddox, and E.
B. Harrold. Not only the people of Fort Worth, but the people of all the southwest will know what these names indicate. The yards will occupy 250 acres of land, and will be strictly first-class in all respects. Fort Worth will be made the live stock center of the southwest, and in taking the steps that led to this consummation, the city has broadened and strengthened the foundations already laid for its growth into the grand commercial metropolis of the great west.

GENERAL DODGE'S OPINIONS.

The Mobeetie Panhandle thus discusses General Dodge's views of the leasing system and its effect on the settlement of the country: "We reproduce in this issue an interview with General Dodge of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, which, in the face of the lease law and in the light of certain controversies, is timely. People are necessary in a country to make railroads profitable, and General Dodge regards the matter in that aspect only. All honest efforts to bring about a state of affairs favorable to settlement are misconstrued (willfully?) by the administration; and every utterance against the leasing law is regarded in the Eastern Texas as another blow in the interest of the 'bullionaires' and another stab at the school fund. General Dodge can not be charged with the seeking either of popularity or notoriety in this connection. His deductions are evidently arrived at from keen perception and a remarkably clear judgment, and he can only be animated in the premises by the natural desire for business to his road and the prosperity of the country to that end.
There can be no sneer raised concerning the honesty of General Dodge in these premises, his intelligence and judgment stand above jundiced Austin criticisms and the narrow prejudices of sectionalism and he says: 'Of course, theoretically the actual settler is given precedence over the stockman, but practically the leasing system is an insurmountable barrier to bona fide settlement.' We commend the perusal of that sentence to Commissioner Hall, the Dallas News and Austin Dispatch, and other parties and organs with a tenderness toward syndicates and corporations. Before the next Legislature meets there will be three and possibly five railroads in the Panhandle going at the exact truth of the lease law and its effects; and possibly as a means of self preservation they may send representatives to Austin. There they will find in the lobby the great bull, Corposyndicate, shedding cop-ious tears and bellowing loudly of the 'dear children's grass.' That bull has infested that lobby in that manner for years, and moreover bestowed chunks of law and libations of wine and strong drink—but this deadly battle with progress is at hand, and the fates have surely written that his metador approaches.
And this does not mean 'the ruin of a great industry,' but the production of more beef, the inhabitation of the land by people and a local prosperity to which we have been stranger since the advent of the cross-eyed and blighting lease."

A Brutal Murder.

FORT WORTH, TEX., Nov. 10, 1887.
To the Editor of the Gazette.

We see in this morning's issue that Messrs. Shipp, Maddox and Pendleton, who visited Gainesville to investigate the killing of W. B. Tucker, Jr., came to the conclusion that it was justifiable. How your correspondent got his information we know not, unless it was inspired by the murderer or his friends, because the statement is utterly false. We came unanimously to the conclusion that the killing of young Tucker was a brutal murder.

Feel the Disgrace.
Brenham Banner.
The people of Fort Worth must feel keenly the disgrace brought upon them by the present city administration. The GAZETTE says that it is "hurtful to every interest, aspiration and
